

In the URL section of the browser type in webmail.YourDomain.com, replacing YourDomain.com with whatever your actual domain is. In this case we are using vandling.net for webmail.vandling.net. Then enter the full email address as well as the password.

If you have configured one of the webmail clients to AutoLoad, you will be presented with a box that gives you the opportunity to stop the AutoLoad. If you stop the AutoLoad you will be able to choose another webmail client. In this case we will Stop the AutoLoad.

Now you are presented with the ability to define options for your email account and choose the webmail client you would like to use to read your email online. If, at any point, these instructions are not what you see on your screen, you may need to clear the cache in your browser, then close your browser, re-open and try again.